In the Sardinian dialect Nui means cluster of clouds.

Resembling soft puff clouds and the pattern they create in the open sky, the Nui rug is woven in mulberry silk, creating the most exquisite and softest surface. It is handwoven on horizontal looms employing the most traditional Sardinian weaving technique: Pibiones, which can be described as “twisting the yarn around the needle”. The Nui rug is presented in a neutral color palette available in shades of gray, blue, white and sand.
