Luce is the Italian name for light. It is with light and its perpetual shifting throughout the day and the seasons that we can appreciate the continuous transformation of the world around us. The change of light conditions, impacted by weather or at different times of the day, has a transforming effect on a landscape allowing unexpected shades and nuances to materialize. Woven with a brilliant silk cord and enriched with unexpected textures created from delicate alpaca threads, the Luce rug is presented in a monotone color palette. The contrasted materiality of the brightness of silk interrupted by the less-reflective and fleecy alpaca loops, creates very sophisticated textures similar to the ones forming in a meadow with the shifting of light.
